1964 COLLEGE OF ELECTORS

IN THE DIGNIFIED SPLENDOR of the Senate Chamber of the State Capitol at Albany, forty-three distinguished citizens gathered at noon on Monday, December 14, 1964, to perform an historic function. As members of the College of Electors, theirs was the responsibility to cast the electoral ballots of New York State for President and Vice President of the United States.

The Electors, selected by the Democratic Party, had been certified on December 7th, 1964, by the New York State Board of Canvassers, as the choice of the people of the State of New York to implement their will as the electorate.

Assembling in the great Chamber, the Electors were convened by Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo. He introduced Rabbi Philip S. Bernstein of Temple B'raith Kodesh of Rochester, who offered the invocation.

The certified list of Electors was submitted by the Honorable Charles H. Palmer, Assistant Secretary to Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller, after which the roll of those present was called by the Honorable Abraham N. Davis, Executive Deputy Secretary of State.

There were three absences, one member, the Honorable Milton Weil of Bronx County, having died on December 9th, and two others, the Honorable Harry Gould of New York County and the Honorable James N. Rosenberg of Westchester County, being unavoidably detained.

After recognizing the existence of the three vacancies, the Secretary of State continued to preside as the College proceeded to choose its officers. Unanimously elected Temporary President to conduct the morning session was the Honorable William H. McKeon of Cayuga County. The Honorable Joyce Phillips Austin of New York County and the Honorable William F. Luddy of Westchester County were then unanimously chosen Temporary Secretaries of the College.

To fill the vacancies of the absent Electors, the College unanimously elected the Honorable Aileen B. Ryan of Bronx County, the Honorable Erwin Shapiro of Schenectady County and the Honorable John J. Mooney of Westchester County.

Upon the completion of its preliminary organization, the College recessed to accept the invitation of the Secretary of State to luncheon at the Schine-Ten Eyck Hotel. There, the Right Reverend Monsignor J. Norbert Kelly, pastor of St. James' Church of Albany, invoked the blessing.

A brief address by Secretary of State Lomenzo opened the afternoon session. In it, he held that while it has become customary for voices to be raised proposing the modification or elimination of the College of Electors, the system has worked effectively through the tests of time and experience, accurately reflecting the will of most of the people. He declared it to be an important part of the process which has made the United States Government the most stable in history, and brought about "the most blessed formula of living ever devised."

Permanent officers of the College were then elected. Chosen Permanent President was the Honorable James A. Farley of New York County, the former Postmaster General, who said he would not make a speech but instead reminisced briefly of events during his term as a member of the New York State Assembly.

The Honorable Monroe Goldwater of New York County and the Honorable Peter J. Crotty of Erie County were elected Permanent Secretaries of the College.

Mr. Farley acknowledged the presence of the Honorable William O. Dapping of Cayuga County and invited him, as "the oldest member of this College," to speak. Mr. Dapping has been an Elector seven times since 1932.

Mr. Farley also recognized the Honorable Arthur Levitt, Comptroller of the State of New York, and Senator Joseph Zaretzki and Assemblyman Anthony J. Travia, who were guests of the College, before the formal ceremony of balloting for President and Vice President of the United States began.

At its close, New York State's forty-three electoral votes were announced as having been cast for Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas for President and for Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota for Vice President.

Each Elector inscribed his ballot and signed formal certificates of election. The ballots were to be returned as mementos to the Electors, while the certificates were directed to be forwarded to the President of the United States Senate and other federal and state officials as required by law for filing.

Before adjournment, the College unanimously approved a resolution that its members would donate their fees as Electors to the John F. Kennedy Library, Inc.

The Reverend Dan M. Potter, Executive Director of the Protestant Council of the City of New York, asked the benediction, after which Mr. Farley closed the proceedings at 4:35 P.M., and the members of the College were then taken to the Executive Mansion to be the guests of Governor and Mrs. Rockefeller at a reception.

PROCEEDINGS OF 1964 ELECTORAL COLLEGE

Proceedings of the Electoral College of the State of New York, held in the Senate Chamber of the State Capitol, Albany, New York, on Monday, December 14, 1964, commencing at twelve o'clock noon.

MORNING SESSION

HONORABLE JOHN P. LOMENZO, Secretary of State, Presiding:

Ladies and gentlemen: The College of Electors for the State of New York will please come to order.

It is a pleasure to introduce at this time Rabbi Philip S. Bernstein of Rochester, New York who will deliver the invocation.

DIVINE BLESSING—RABBI PHILIP S. BERNSTEIN:

At this hour we lift our thoughts to Thee, Oh God, for Thou art the source of all our blessings. We thank Thee for life, love and laughter, for the ideals and principles that move us to do our best, for the beauty and bounty of this earth we inhabit.

We thank Thee for this sweet land of liberty and for the free choice of those who lead and serve us. We thank Thee for the goals of human dignity and social justice towards which we aspire. And yet as we thank Thee for our blessings we are aware of the needs in the world around us.

We think of those who hunger as we are well fed, of those who are oppressed as we live in freedom, of those who walk in darkness as we move into the light.

Be then, Oh God, with those who have been chosen for high responsibility; touch their hearts with understanding, with compassion and with humility, and inspire them with courage, vision, and statesmanship; broaden their horizons that they seek to serve all the peoples of this land and to share our blessings with the less fortunate everywhere—that life, liberty and the possibility of happiness may be the heritage of all Thy children. Amen.

SECRETARY OF STATE LOMENZO:

Thank you, Rabbi Bernstein.

The Chair recognizes the Honorable Charles H. Palmer, Assistant Secretary to His Excellency, Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller.

HONORABLE CHARLES H. PALMER:

Mr. Secretary, I take pleasure in submitting, on behalf of the Governor of the State of New York, these certified lists of Electors for President and Vice President of the United States.

Ladies and gentlemen: It is a pleasure and a privilege to present to you the Temporary President of this Electoral College, William H. McKeon of Cayuga County.

TEMPORARY PRESIDENT MCKEON:

Fellow Electors: We meet today with a deep sense of pride and of history. Our task is steeped in tradition and the trappings of glory and honor that have helped make the American system one which has been esteemed, envied, and copied all over the globe.

I know you share with me the personal feeling of pride and honor all of us have as we prepare for this task. The Electoral College system is an old one. It has long withstood the tests of time and criticism. It is fitting, therefore, that we are assembled for an historic chore as the result of an historic election.

I do not know what heights may be scaled in future elections. I do know that the results achieved in New York State on November 3rd were of historic proportions.

Never before have the candidates for President and Vice President swept the boards so decisively and overwhelmingly as they did on November 3rd.

So as we meet today we can truly say we are representative of the people of this State enough so to undertake this job solemnly and with a mixture of joy, honor and enthusiasm.

The Chair now recognizes the Honorable Mae Gurevich of Bronx County.

HONORABLE MAE GUREVICH:

Mr. Chairman, I offer the names of the Honorable Joyce Phillips Austin of New York County and the Honorable William F. Luddy of Westchester County as Temporary Secretaries of this College.

TEMPORARY PRESIDENT McKEON:

Are there any further nominations for Temporary Secretary to the College? If not, are you ready for the question: All in favor of the nominations of Joyce Phillips Austin and William F. Luddy as Temporary Secretaries to the College signify in the usual manner. (Chorus of ayes) There being none opposed, Joyce Phillips Austin and William F. Luddy are hereby elected as Temporary Secretaries to the College and I request them to take their place on the dais.

The next order of business is the filling of the vacancies created by the absence of Electors, the Honorable Harry Gould, the Honorable James N. Rosenberg, and the Honorable Milton Weil.

At this time I will entertain nominations to fill the vacancies, and I recognize the Honorable Ivan Warner of Bronx County.

HONORABLE IVAN WARNER:

I offer, Mr. Chairman, the names of the Honorable Aileen B. Ryan of Bronx County, the Honorable Erwin Shapiro of Schenectady County, and the Honorable John J. Luncheon at Schine-Ten Eyck Hotel—Secretary of State John P. Lomenzo, host

AFTERNOON SESSION

Called to order at 3:00 p.m., Monday, December 14, 1964, in the Senate Chamber of the State Capitol, Albany, N. Y.

TEMPORARY PRESIDENT McKEON:

The afternoon session of the Electoral College of the State of New York is now in order. I will now call upon our host, the genial John P. Lomenzo, for a few words.

SECRETARY OF STATE LOMENZO:

Thank you very much, Mr. President. At the luncheon we had the privilege of a blessing from the Rt. Rev. J. Norbert Kelly, Pastor of St. James' Church of Albany. I have asked his blessing be included in the record of this proceeding.

RIGHT REVEREND MONSIGNOR KELLY:

In the name of the Father, of the Son, and the Holy Ghost, Amen.

Bless us Lord for these Thy gifts, which we are about to receive, from Thy bounty, through Christ, Our Lord, Amen. In the name of the Father, The Son, and of the Holy Ghost, Amen.

SECRETARY OF STATE LOMENZO:

I am sure you will be happy to learn that the lovely centerpieces on the luncheon tables have been sent, in the name of each of the members of this College, to the childrens' hospitals in the Albany area.

Mr. President, members of the College, distinguished ladies and gentlemen: It will come as no surprise to the public to observe on television this evening, or to hear on the radio, or to read in the press, that the 43 electoral votes of the State of New York have been cast in favor of Lyndon B. Johnson for President of the United States, and Hubert H. Humphrey for Vice President.

The public knew six weeks ago, on election day, that the Democratic candidates for these, the highest offices in the land, had won New York State's electoral votes as well as its popular vote majority.

Yet, while the people had spoken at the polls on that date, the expression of their will has had to await the formalities of these proceedings. Not until you members of the College of Electors cast your ballots will the electoral votes of New York State be officially recorded.

Proceedings similar to these in progress here are being performed today in each of the other 49 states, and, for the first time, in the District of Columbia.

The result of all of them will be the official confirmation of a fact long known, under a process prescribed by the Constitution of the United States for the past one hundred and sixty years.

Earlier, in 1787, the constitutional convention had labored at length in search of the means by which to elect the chief executive of the new nation.

No one worked harder to achieve the adoption of the Constitution than Alexander Hamilton, the brilliant young statesman whose speeches in the New York Convention had carried great weight and exerted much influence.

Hamilton had fought against the proposal that the Congress elect the President, on the grounds that this would bring the executive office under the control of the legislative body, and thus eliminate one of the checks and balances which the founding fathers had so wisely implanted in the structure of the new government.

He had led, with equal vigor, the opposition to the proposal that the people elect the President by direct vote. This procedure, in Hamilton's words, could lead to "tumult and disorder."

Thus evolved the indirect popular method adopted by the constitutional convention which has become the College of Electors, to promote what was described as "The calm deliberation for the selection of the best qualified man."

Periodically, and especially after a close election, it has become customary for voices to be raised against this method, proposing the modification or elimination of the College of Electors. This electoral system of choosing the President and Vice President has been described by these dissenting voices as creaky, and accident prone, and as potentially unresponsive to the electorate.

They are not quite so noisome this year, these voices, for reasons which are obvious.

Nevertheless, a major national poll taken only recently gave evidence that, at least among those polled, a substantial number of people favor changing the system.

Yet I would offer the reminder that after the election of 1960, one of the closest in our history, the Association of the Bar of the City of New York conducted an exhaustive survey of the whole system of choosing the President and Vice President, and that its results overwhelmingly reaffirmed the electoral vote method.

Alternative methods have been tried, during our early history, and were found wanting. Several hundred such proposals have been introduced over the years and doubtless others will be offered in the future.

But by every test of time and experience, the electoral system has proved best for electing the President and Vice President under the American form of government.

Being man-made, the system is not perfect, but it is one that works effectively, even in the space age, reflecting the will of most of the people.

Program

Thus your role, as members of the College of Electors, while largely ceremonial, is nevertheless further dignified as the continuation of an official tradition that is real and valid.

It is part and parcel, indeed it is the very culmination of the process by which Americans exercise their free will to say who among them shall be their leaders.

It is a process which is envied by half the world and puzzling to much of the rest—envied by those deprived of the freedom to choose the direction of their own government, puzzling to those unfamiliar with the apparent inconsistencies of American politics.

For whatever its flaws, the process has made this government, based on freedom of choice and the principle of checks and balances separating and delegating its powers, the most stable in the history of mankind, and has brought about the most blessed formula of living ever devised by the minds of men.

The College of Electors is an expression of this principle.

In this tradition, Americans of all political beliefs, after elections, close ranks in the national purpose behind their two highest leaders, relegating their loyalty to partisan philosophies behind love of country.

I am proud to be among them and, with you, to ask Almighty God to give wisdom and guidance to Lyndon Baines Johnson and Hubert Horatio Humphrey as they take up their awesome burden of leadership of this noble land.

Thank you very much.

TEMPORARY PRESIDENT McKEON:

The next order of business is the election of a Permanent President and for that purpose the Chair recognizes the Honorable Edward N. Costikyan of New York County.

HONORABLE EDWARD N. COSTIKYAN:

Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen: We have as one of our members a gentleman who has served his party, his state, and the nation in positions of high responsibility for longer than most of us have lived. He has always discharged his responsibilities with high devotion and with great dignity, and his example has brought respect and honor to the profession of politics. He has given the word “politician” an honor place in the lexicon of government.

It is my privilege, pleasure, and honor to nominate as Permanent President of this New York State 1964 Electoral College the Honorable James A. Farley of New York County.

TEMPORARY PRESIDENT McKEON:

At this time the Chair recognizes the Honorable John M. Galvin of Erie County.

HONORABLE JOHN M. GALVIN:

Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen: It is my pleasure to second the nomination of the Honorable James A. Farley as Permanent President of the College.

TEMPORARY PRESIDENT McKEON:

Are there any other nominations for the office of Permanent President? (None) All those in favor of the motion made by Mr. Costikyan indicate in the usual manner. (Chorus of ayes) Opposed? (None)

The Chair announces, Mr. Democrat of New York State, the Honorable James A. Farley has been elected Permanent President of this College.

I would like to appoint the Honorable John J. Lynch of Kings County and the Honorable Patrick J. Dillon of Niagara County to escort Mr. Farley to the Chair. (Applause)

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

Mr. Lomenzo, Secretary of State, Chairman McKeon, members of the Electoral College, distinguished Democrats, ladies and gentlemen. I know it says here I am to make a brief address; that I am not going to do. I first want to express my thanks to Mr. McKeon and to the members of this College for the honor conferred upon me. I consider it a great honor, because this is an old and very ancient institution in our government. I was a member of the Electoral College in 1932 and 1936, and it is nice to be back here again to see those of you whom I have known for so long a time, who are members of the College today, and many others, who I knew of but never had the pleasure of meeting until today.

I want also to express my thanks to the Secretary of State for a very fine luncheon—to use an old expression—I ate so much I am too full for utterances.

I want to say to the Secretary of State I enjoyed your company and that of your fine wife at our table.

My presence in this room today brings back many memories. I was elected to the Assembly once. I ran in 1922 because I couldn't persuade anybody else to run. I ran and to my surprise I was elected. I voted for the repeal of the Mullen-Gage Act, and that took care of my legislative career the following November.

That reminds me of the evening, when in this room the Senate passed the repeal of the 18th amendment. This was known as the Mullen-Gage Act. I remember it was passed in the Assembly by one vote and when we completed our deliberations we all crowded in here to watch the Senate take action on the bill. Our old friend, the late Mayor Jimmy Walker, was the leader of the majority, and he had a majority of one vote, and that vote disappeared at one stage of the evening. After, it was necessary for Jimmy to get the Sergeant at Arms to go to the railroad station, and if, need be, arrest the voter who was trying to make his way out of the Capitol so it wouldn't be necessary for him to cast his vote. He was brought back here at two, three, or four o'clock in the morning. The roll was called and the Mullen-Gage Act was repealed. I was in this room many times in the years that followed, watching the deliberations of this great Senate.

Now I am going to proceed as quickly as I can with the business before us, but in closing my remarks I do want you to know I am grateful from the bottom of my heart to the Chairman and to any one else who had any part in making possible my election to this very distinguished post.

I now recognize Honorable Dorothy W. Levitt of Kings County.

HONORABLE DOROTHY W. LEVITT:

It is my pleasure to present the names of the Honorable Monroe Goldwater of New York County and the Honorable Peter J. Crotty of Erie County as Permanent Secretaries of the College.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

I now recognize Honorable James T. Healey of Albany County.

HONORABLE JAMES T. HEALEY:

I second the nominations of the Honorable Monroe Goldwater, and please observe the spelling of the first name, and the Honorable Peter J. Crotty as Permanent Secretaries of this College.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

Are there any other nominations? (None) All those in favor of the election of the Honorable Monroe Goldwater and the Honorable Peter J. Crotty indicate in the usual manner. (Chorus of ayes) I declare the Honorable Monroe Goldwater and the Honorable Peter J. Crotty have been named as Permanent Secretaries of the College.

I now recognize the Secretary of State.

SECRETARY OF STATE LOMENZO:

Thank you, Mr. President.

It is my pleasure and privilege, as Secretary of State of the State of New York, to present to you, as the Permanent President of this College, a gavel, as a memento of this historical occasion. It is inscribed: The Honorable James A. Farley, Permanent President of the New York State, 1964 Electoral College.

Now, Mr. President, it is my privilege to present to you the list setting forth the names of the Electors certified by His Excellency, Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller of the State of New York.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

Thank you, Mr. Secretary, for the certificates and this gavel, which I trust I will not have to use too roughly during the remainder of these proceedings.

I am now going to call on for just a few remarks the oldest member of this College, a man who came here for the first time in 1932. He has been here on seven occasions as an Elector. I would like you to hear a few words from Mr. Bill Dapping of Auburn. (Applause)

(WILLIAM O. DAPPING responded by noting that he has been an Elector over a period of thirty-six years, and has seen seven Democratic candidates made President. He said he has assembled a collection of electoral ballots, dating from those cast by him for Franklin D. Roosevelt, which he hopes to present to the Roosevelt Library.)

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

Thank you very much, Bill. Your address was very interesting and inspiring not only to me but to the others present and particularly to the young fellows. You carried on for our cause through fair weather and foul; you never wavered; you have the respect and admiration of every one who ever knew you or came within the range of your voice and influence. I know of no man in this State who has been of greater service to his party than you. It is only fitting and proper for the party to recognize you.

HONORABLE WILLIAM O. DAPPING:

I would like to add, Jim, having been an Elector for so long that I never wanted the job and I was never asked if I wanted it.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

I am now going to call upon one of the finest public servants in this State, or that could be found in any state. He is a great public servant—Arthur Levitt. (Applause)

HONORABLE ARTHUR LEVITT:

Thank you very much, Mr. President.

Members of the Electoral College: I am deeply grateful to the President of the College for his very generous introduction and for the privilege of addressing this very important group. Let me offer to the Senior Elector the assurance that the checks in payment of your fees and the reimbursement of your travel expenses will be signed in black ink. I am not quite so sure about Mr. Lomenzo's vouchers for our luncheon, but I love the color green even though I am not an Irishman either.

Ladies and gentlemen: I consider it a great honor for the second time in my incumbency to greet and salute a body such as this one—motivated by the purpose which prompts your gathering here this afternoon.

It is a real delight to look upon your pleasant and cheerful faces and to see your exuberant confidence, which I assure you, is in stark contrast to the otherwise bleak aspect of the Albany environment for the past six years.

I bid you all a cordial and hearty welcome and invite you to visit me at my office at any time. (Applause)

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

Thank you very much, Mr. Levitt. (Applause)

Bill, I want to tell you I am fully aware that green ink fades under the sun because I had to go through the job of signing over eleven thousand post office certificates of appointments as Postmasters because they were apparently hung or placed in positions where the sun hit them and they faded, and from that time on I have always signed all my official documents in black ink.

I will now call upon for a speech, if time permits, and to take a bow, Senator Zaretzki. (Applause)

Assemblyman Travia I wish you would take a bow too. (Applause)

The next order of business is the casting of the ballots for President of the United States and I recognize Honorable Ivan Warner of Bronx County.

HONORABLE IVAN WARNER:

Mr. President, it is my pleasure to move that we proceed with the balloting for President of the United States.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

I now recognize Honorable John I. Snyder, Jr., of Suffolk County.

HONORABLE JOHN I. SNYDER, JR.;

I second the motion.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

I call for a vote on the motion. All in favor? (Chorus of ayes) Contrary? (None) It is so ordered.

I now appoint Honorable Dolores J. English of Nassau County and Honorable Abraham M. Lindenbaum of Kings County, as Tellers, to count the votes which are about to be cast and request the Tellers to take their places at the ballot box.

I now recognize Honorable Timothy W. Costello of Richmond County.

HONORABLE TIMOTHY W. COSTELLO:

Mr. President, may I suggest that the ballot box be taken to the Permanent President of this College, the Honorable James A. Farley, so that he may be given the honor of casting the first ballot for the President of the United States.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

Thank you. Now everybody will proceed to vote. Please sign your name on your ballot so it may be returned to you.

(Whereupon, the balloting took place.)

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

Has everyone voted? I declare the ballots closed and will the Tellers please announce the results.

HONORABLE DOLORES J. ENGLISH:

Mr. President, after counting the ballots we find 43 ballots cast for Lyndon B. Johnson for President of the United States.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

Did you use a computer? Thank you very much. We will now proceed to vote for Vice President of the United States and I recognize Honorable Alex Rose of New York County.

HONORABLE ALEX ROSE:

I move that the College proceed with the balloting for the Vice President of the United States.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

I now recognize Honorable Albert L. Hecht of Dutchess County.

HONORABLE ALBERT L. HECHT:

I second the motion.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

All in favor of Mr. Rose's motion signify in the usual manner? (Chorus of ayes) Opposed? (None) So ordered. We will now proceed with the balloting for Vice President of the United States.

(Whereupon, the balloting for Vice President of the United States took place.)

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

Has everyone voted? Will you please announce the results?

HONORABLE ABRAHAM M. LINDENBAUM:

Mr. President, after counting the ballots we find 43 votes cast for Hubert H. Humphrey for Vice President of the United States.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

I now declare the entire membership of this Electoral College has voted for Vice President of the United States. These ballots will be mailed back to you, as suggested.

I now ask each member of the College to come to the dais to sign the Certificates of Election.

(Whereupon, the members of the College signed the Certificates of Election.)

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

All of the certificates have been signed. I now recognize the Honorable Aileen B. Ryan from Bronx County.

HONORABLE AILEEN B. RYAN:

Mr. President, I offer the motion that the Permanent Secretaries be authorized and directed to file, or cause to be filed, the certificates which we have signed, with the President of the United States Senate, with the Secretary of State of the United States, the Secretary of State of New York State, the Judge of the United States District Court of the Northern District of New York, and with the Administrator of General Services of the United States Government.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

I now recognize Honorable John J. Mooney of Westchester County.

HONORABLE JOHN J. MOONEY:

I second the motion of the Honorable Aileen B. Ryan.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

All those in favor of the motion of Aileen B. Ryan signify by saying aye. (Chorus of ayes) Opposed? (None) So ordered.

I now recognize Honorable Francis J. Barry of Bronx County.

HONORABLE FRANCIS J. BARRY:

Mr. President, I move that the proceedings of today's session of the Electoral College be printed and bound and copies of the proceedings be distributed to all of the members of the Electoral College.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

I now recognize Honorable Helen Zaretzki of New York County.

HONORABLE HELEN ZARETZKI:

Mr. President, it is my privilege to second the motion made by the Honorable Francis J. Barry.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

All in favor signify in the usual manner. (Chorus of ayes) Contrary? (None) So ordered.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

I now recognize Honorable William H. McKeon of Cayuga County.

HONORABLE WILLIAM H. McKEON:

Mr. President, I move that the electors agree to donate their fees to the John F. Kennedy Library, Inc.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

I now recognize Honorable Lilyan Stark of Kings County.

HONORABLE LILYAN STARK:

I take great pleasure in seconding the motion made by the Honorable William H. McKeon.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

Are there any further motions or resolutions? (None) All in favor of Mr. McKeon's resolution signify in the usual manner. (Chorus of ayes) Opposed? (None) So ordered.

I now recognize Honorable Arthur Rosencrans of Kings County.

HONORABLE ARTHUR ROSENCRANS:

Mr. President, I move that the Electoral College of 1964 be adjourned.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

I now recognize Honorable Albert R. Murray of Kings County.

HONORABLE ALBERT R. MURRAY:

Mr. President, I second the motion that we adjourn.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

All in favor of Mr. Rosencrans's motion to adjourn signify by saying aye. (Chorus of ayes) Contrary? (None) So ordered.

I now recognize the Rev. Dan M. Potter, Executive Director of the Protestant Council of the City of New York who will offer the benediction. Shall we stand for the benediction.

REVEREND DAN M. POTTER:

Let us pray.

Almighty and gracious God, Thou who art the kingdom and power, the glory and the majesty, the Creator of the universe, the source and preserver of life, the King of civilization, and the ruler of history, we acknowledge Thee as Lord of all.

We pray that the action now taken by this branch of the Electoral College has truly been reflective of Thy will for our state, our nation, and the world.

Bless we pray the other elected leaders so designated, President Lyndon B. Johnson of the State of Texas and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey of the State of Minnesota, and all others in authority.

Give them the devine insight and wisdom in these critical days that peace, prosperity and happiness may come to our nation and to all of the nations of the world.

And now may Thy benediction rest upon the members, families, and friends of this Electoral College and all of the other leaders of this Empire State, and to Thy gracious mercy I commend them that they may go in peace, do good works, preserve freedom and dignity, love their neighbors, visit the sick, comfort the downhearted, feed the poor, and above all glorify Thee.

And now may the grace of God Almighty be with you now and ever more. Amen.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT FARLEY:

Thank you, Reverend Potter.

Before we adjourn this historic session, I want to again thank and congratulate all of the members of this College for their attendance and for the honor bestowed upon them in being selected as Electors. I want to thank you again for the honor conferred upon me; also I again thank the Secretary of State for the cooperation extended by him and his staff and for inviting us to that delightful luncheon.

Thank you and God bless you all. Have a happy and pleasant year all of you.

(Whereupon at 4:35 p.m. the proceedings were concluded.)
