1976 COLLEGE OF ELECTORS

THE 41 MEMBERS comprising the College of Electors, meeting in the Senate Chamber of the State Capitol in Albany on Monday, December 13, 1976 carried out a procedure mandated by the Federal Constitution to cast the electoral votes of New York State for President and Vice President of the United States.

The Electors, chosen by the Democratic Party, had been certified by the New York State Board of Canvassers, to be the choice of a plurality of the voters of the State.

The members of the College were convened by Secretary of State Mario M. Cuomo, and the proceedings began with an invocation offered by the Reverend Robert E. Roos, Chancellor of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Albany.

From the certified list of Electors, Secretary Cuomo called the roll of names. There were four vacancies. In order to fill the vacancies, the College elected temporary officers.

The Honorable Stanley Makowski of Erie County was named unanimously as the Temporary President; the Honorable Mildred A. Snyder and the Honorable Philip D. O'Donnell were named unanimously as Temporary Secretaries.

The College thereupon elected substitutes for the absent Electors.

Upon filling the vacancies, the College unanimously elected His Excellency, Governor Hugh L. Carey, as Permanent President of the College.

Governor Carey then addressed the College.

The Governor said that while the convening of the College was a ceremonial function under the Constitution, it was also a time to reflect upon the performance of a high duty as citizen electors, involved and engaged in the exercise of constitutional responsibility. He said the Electors were articulating the voice, the votes, of the people of the State of New York, who have indicated their preference for their President and Vice President of the United States.

"At least for the short moment we are, therefore, involved in articulating the voice of the people, but more importantly in the transmission of a trust, the high trust of the greatest public office in the world."

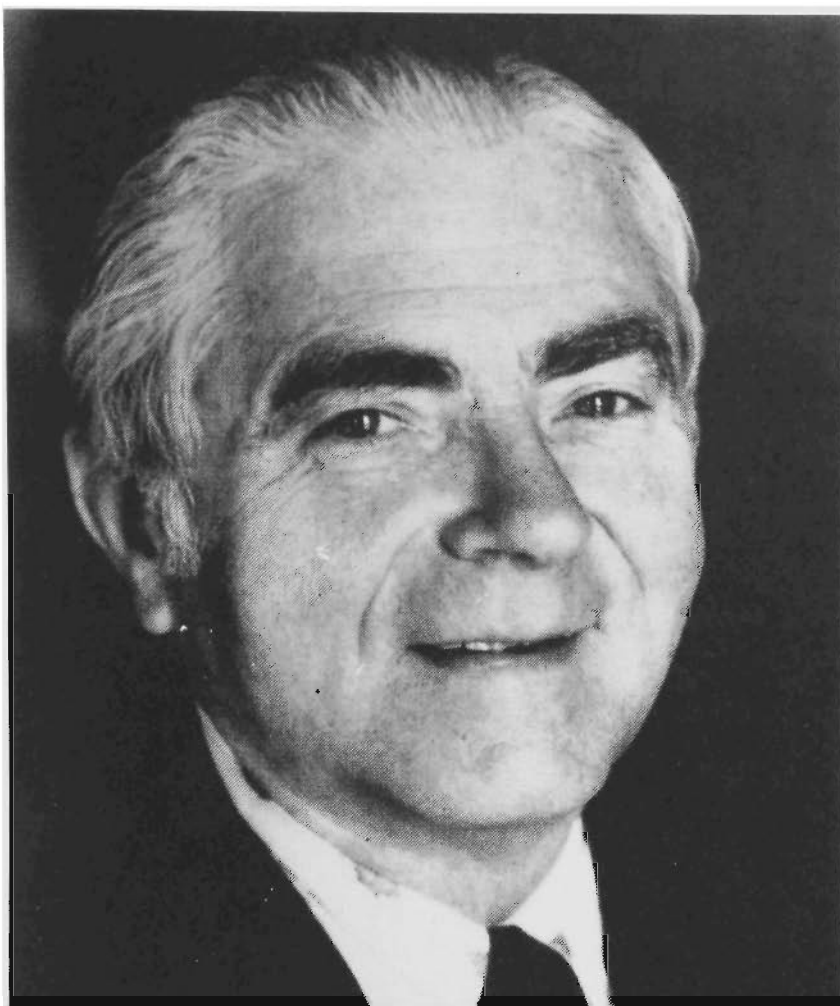

The election of the Honorable Abraham D. Beame and the Honorable Margaret Costanza as Permanent Secretaries followed Governor Carey's address.

In the formal ceremony of balloting for President and Vice President of the United States which followed, the 41 electoral votes of New York State were recorded for Jimmy Carter of Georgia for President and for Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota for Vice President.

Each Elector inscribed the ballot he cast for President and Vice President, then signed the formal Certificates of Election. The ballots will be returned to the Electors as personal mementos while the Certificates were directed to be filed with the appropriate federal, state and judicial officials as required by law.

Rabbi Martin Silverman, President, Capital District Board of Rabbis, delivered the benediction.

Governor Carey closed the proceedings, after which members of the College of Electors were taken to the Executive Mansion for a reception as guests of the Governor.

PROCEEDINGS OF 1976 ELECTORAL COLLEGE

TEMPORARY PRESIDENT MAKOWSKI:

I am honored and delighted to give you your Permanent President, the Honorable Hugh L. Carey.

PERMANENT PRESIDENT CAREY:

Thank you, President Makowski and electors of the Electoral College.

This is a time, indeed, of important ceremonial function under the Constitution of the United States of America, but as important as is our ceremonial function, let us also reflect that we are carrying forth our constitutional duty as citizen electors as persons, according to the rules that govern the conduct of affairs of the United States. In our public affairs, our rules are those of the Constitution and, therefore, we are today involved and engaged in the exercise of constitutional responsibility.

As we act, we articulate the voice, the votes, of the people of the State of New York, who have indicated their preference for their President and Vice President of the United States. At least for this short moment we are, therefore, involved in articulating the voice of the people but more importantly in the transmission of trust, the high trust of the greatest public office in the world.

The duties and responsibilities of the President and Vice President of the United States are set forth in the Constitution. By our powers today, we cannot enlarge or increase those powers or responsibilities, but by acting according to the duties assigned us, as duly elected persons, we do add to this process.

The regularity of our system of laws, which today in this bicentennial election year, marks another precedent in the progress of the young and vigorous republic of which we are all citizens and today member electors.

When we have concluded this proceeding, we will have duly certified to our government in Washington that the people of our State have chosen and we will indicate their preference. Let us also in that solemn moment at the conclusion of our function, each unto himself or herself, add something on which this Constitution of the United States is based.

The hope, indeed the prayer, that by our actions as citizens and persons and voters we have sent to the high office of President and Vice President those in whom we place our trust and with those persons our prayer that we shall have in the years ahead the great guidance of the Creator of our country and our Constitution, which is a great resource of our people. (Applause)

Let us now proceed with the next order of business, the election of Permanent Secretaries of this Electoral College.

I recognize the Honorable Anna Jefferson of Kings County.
